IMPACT AID & MILITARY CONNECTED STUDENTS

- Impact Aid is a federal program that provides funding for a portion of the educational cost of federal-connected students. It recaptures money lost from federal land located within the districts' boundaries that is exempt from property taxes (up to $3000 per student).
- IMPACT AID FUNDING
 - School district's Impact Aid payments are based in part on the count of federally connected including military children who attend schools in the district. The money is not designated for individual children.
- HOW IMPACT AID SUPPORTS MILITARY STUDENTS
 - Impact Aid is the only federal education program where funds are sent directly to the school districts. The funds go directly into the school district's general fund for operations such as the purchase of textbooks, computers, utilities, and payment of staff salaries. It helps offset the cost to educate students who live on exempt property.
- IMPORTANCE OF RETURNING THE IMPACT AID FORM
 - Every year, schools send home an Impact Aid form or an online survey for parents to complete, sign and return. This form counts the number of federally impacted students in the school district to apply for available money. Schools send this survey home anytime from the fourth day of school to January 31.
